

Eligibility for inclusion of certification in the Demographic Data Collection Tool (DDCT®) starting January 1, 2024.

In 2015, the ANCC Institute for Credentialing Research®, in collaboration with the Magnet Recognition® Program and New Measurement Product leadership teams, undertook review of the certifications recognized in the DDCT® database. The purpose of undertaking the review and subsequent vetting process was to limit the certifications to those that met industry standards for board certification. The guiding principle for limiting the certifications to only those developed using industry standards and representing board certifications was evidence-based, demonstrating a positive relationship between board certification and improvements in nursing practice and patient outcomes.

As Magnet continues to evolve and ‘raise the bar’ for nursing excellence, the inclusion process for the DDCT was re-evaluated. To assure equity in the qualifications of criteria in the constitution of accepting a certification, beginning January 1, 2024, ANCC Magnet will limit inclusion only to board certifications that are accredited by the Accreditation Board for Specialty Nursing Certification \(ABSNC\), National Commission Certifying Agencies \(NCCA\), ISO 17-024 \(ANSI\), International Certification Accreditation Council \(ICAC\), or another recognized accreditor*.

NOTE: Certificate programs are not included

ANCC Magnet recognizes this change will directly impact organizations submitting examples for SE3, SE4EO, SE5 and SE6EO (2023 Magnet Application Manual).

1. Identify certifications for inclusion in the baseline year (remove all others)
2. Calculate new percentage of eligible nurses
3. Establish Year One and Year Two goals (per source language and criteria)

Retired certifications that have been validated by ABSNC, NCCA, ISO 17024, and ICAC are accepted by the Magnet Program Office (MPO). Please review the current list of accepted retired certifications. For inclusion on the list, certifying bodies must submit proof of validation by ABSNC, NCCA, and/or ISO 17024 by emailing ddct.certlist@ana.org.

The following list will continue to be updated as validation of retired certifications are received and reviewed. It is recommended to visit the Eligibility for inclusion of certifications in the DDCT often, found under the Program Tools icon at Accepted Certifications in the DDCT | ANCC Magnet Recognition Program \(nursingworld.org\)

For questions, please email ddct.certlist@ana.org.
